THOUSANDS VISIT BIG BATTLESHIP

Sunday's Crowd Came From All Over State---Ship's Crew Plays Base Ball

Thousands of people from all parts of the state were here on Sunday with the one object of seeing the battleship New Hampshire. The morning train from Concord and Manchester was the heaviest for the year and it included people from all along the line. Others came by trolley and by automobiles.

Every facility was given them for inspecting the pride of the state. The steamer Alice Howard and several smaller craft were running to the ship which was open for certain hours for the visitors. During the closed hours the steamers circled around the big ship as near as possible.

Hundreds of others went to New Castle and others to Kittery Point, from either place good views could be obtained.

The Crew Play Baseball

The baseball team of the battleship accompanied by a large number of the crew went ashore Sunday afternoon at Fort Constitution where a game was played with the team from the fort and they won easily by a score of ten to two.

Governor Floyd Guest at Dinner Party

Governor C. M. Floyd and many of his staff, Mayor Wallace Hackett, Captain Winslow and other officers of the battleship were the guests on Sunday evening given by Captain William H. Jacques at his home at North Hampton.

Many of the Governor's party including the members of the staff and Commodore and Secretary of State Edward N. Pearson returned to their homes on Sunday evening, but there were many who will remain until today.

A BIG EGG

Captain Edward Robinson of the night police patrol has on exhibition an egg which is a genuine surprise to the men of this locality. The egg measures eight inches one way and six and one-half the other and weighs one-fourth of a pound. It was laid by a Rhode Island Red hen, one of the handsome flock in the coop of the captain.

COMFORT BAGS AND PAUL JONES PORTRAIT

Two More Presentations to the Battle- ship New Hampshire

Comfort Bag for Each Man from Women's Christian Temperance Union

A Portrait of John Paul Jones from the Helen Seavey Quilting Party

The New Hampshire state Women's Christian Temperance Union this afternoon presented 320 comfort bags to the men on the battleship New Hampshire, and the Helen Seavey Quilting Party of Portsmouth presented a portrait of Admiral John Paul Jones, the man who created the first United States navy and died at Portsmouth.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union members to the number of half a hundred from all parts of the state of New Hampshire gathered at Hotel Champerneuve during the noon hour and at one o'clock were taken to the battleship in the ship's launches.

The men were assembled on the main deck and Mrs. E. R. Richardson, president of the state Union, presented the comfort bags to Captain Winslow for the officers and men of the ship. In her address she assured him that the love and good wishes of the mothers and daughters in New Hampshire went with these gifts to the sons and brothers of other women.

The gift was accepted by Captain Winslow in a few well chosen words. The members of the Helen Seavey Quilting Party went in launches from Portsmouth and Kittery Point, arriving at 2.30 p. m. They were heartily received by Captain Winslow and officers.

The presentation was made by Mrs. H. R. Durbin of South Elliot, who stated that the portrait is a faithful copy of Paul Jones's famous bust on John Paul Jones. She told of the local history of the navy, including Jones' establishing the navy at this spot, and briefly reviewed the history of the navy to date and expressed the hope that this portrait may long hold up the notable deeds of the founder of this great fighting force.

Captain Winslow thanked them in well chosen words for the gift. Both parties were the guests of the ship and were privileged to make an inspection of this wonderful new vessel. Refreshments were served.

The members of the Helen Seavey Quilting Party, numbering thirty, went from the battleship to Mrs. O.

L. Fisher's cottage on Tuckers Island where they will be guests this evening.

HIBERNIANS MEET OFFICERS

State Officials Call on Division 2 in This City on Sunday

The Ancient Order of Hibernians of this city had a very pleasant call from three well known state officers on Sunday. They were State President Dennis N. Fleming of Manchester, Vice President James Lacy of Gosport and Stratford county president John J. McCarthy of Dover.

There was a large gathering of the members of Division 2 and important matters pertaining to the order were discussed.

AT THE NAVY YARD

Two sailors from the U. S. S. New Hampshire were tried by the court-martial board at the yard today.

Early this morning an Italian laborer working at the yard central power plant fell from one of the boilers to the floor, a distance of twelve feet, and was badly cut about the face. He was attended by the yard hospital force and later brought to his home in this city.

Chief Clerk Angus R. Rundlett of the steam engineering equipment, who has been ill at his home in Kittery, is reported much improved.

The band on the U. S. S. New Hampshire is certainly a good company of musicians and their work has been highly praised since the ship arrived in port.

Male Joseph Cuerra has been detached from the naval coal depot at Frenchman's Bay, Me., and ordered to the prison ship Topoka.

Rogerswain Nelson R. Klag of the U. S. S. Mohican has been ordered to duty on the Southern.

Thirteen prisoners for the naval prison arrived on Sunday night from Norfolk.

The New Hampshire will sail on Saturday for Brooklyn navy yard.

BATTLESHIP NEW HAMPSHIRE RECEIVES SILVER SERVICE

Presented Saturday By Gov. Floyd In Presence Of Distinguished Gathering

Accepted By Captain Winslow In Interesting
Speech---Stand Of Colors Presented By D. A. R.

Brilliant Ball At Hotel Wentworth Closes Day's Programme
A Naval And Society Gathering

In the presence of a distinguished gathering of representative people of this state and of prominent men and women of the country as well as many noted naval men, the state of New Hampshire on Saturday afternoon presented to its namesake the battleship New Hampshire one of the handsomest silver services carried by any ship in the navy. The service contains sixty-eight pieces and represents a cost of upwards of $40,000 and it is a fitting expression of gold will from the state to the finest ship in the navy.

The ceremony took place at two-thirty Saturday afternoon on the quarter deck of the battleship which is at anchor in the inner harbor and favored by the heat of weather the crowd exceeded the expectations, being fully 1200, but they were landed in the best possible manner, and there was no crowding or bumping at any time either in coming or going on the big ship where there was amply room for everybody.

Governor Floyd and his official party which included his staff, the members of his council, and the New Hampshire delegation, Senators Jacob N. Gallinger, Henry E. Burdham, Congressman Cyrus Endicott Peabody and Frank H. Corrier, were taken to the battleship in launches from the hotel Wentworth which has been the headquarters of the Governor and the state party.

The general invited guests left this city from Jones' wharf, and to handle the big crowd three large barges of the Piscataqua Navigation company were used. The first large well crowded led the wharf at 1:15 in tow of the tug Portsmouth, and she was followed a few minutes later by another large in tow of the M. Mitchell Davis and the third barge left shortly after with the tug Piscataqua.

At the battleship there were 1,000 men, used for boarding purposes and the crowd disembarked very comfortably and with the three large barges placed to the ship were soon aboard.

The quarterdeck of the ship was draped and it was handsomely decorated with flags of all nations. In the centre was the silver service on a large table, around which a number of ladies had been made and a number of ladies were on duty.

The crowd were aboard the ship in plenty of time to allow a thorough inspection of the big ship before the ceremony. The crew made every thing pleasant and were very willing to show parties all over the ship while the officers were everywhere looking after the comfort of the guests and showing them every courtesy. From Captain Winslow down they wanted to make the occasion one of special pleasure to everybody.

At two-thirty Governor Floyd accompanied by Captain Winslow and Mayor Hackett, who by the way was present with the Governor on all of the official visits, took a post in the silver service and Governor Floyd in a well delivered and interesting speech presented the service, his remarks being frequently interrupted by applause.

Captain Winslow Accepts

Captain Cameron Melton Winslow, of the battleship accepted the service in a very clever speech, in which he said in part:

"It gives me great pleasure to receive this beautiful gift from the state of New Hampshire. All have of the tug Portsmouth, and she was followed a few minutes later by another large in tow of the M. Mitchell Davis and the third barge left shortly after with the tug Piscataqua.

such interest the navy will not grow. This interest is so great through the country that no body of citizens of sufficient power and prominence exists in the country that can stop its growth.

"There are certain men and certain societies, called anti-war societies, that oppose the navy on the ground that we do not want war. Their methods are almost sure to bring on a war rather than prevent it. No weaker nation would want to go to war with a stronger nation, for fear of being thrashed so what super methods have we of preventing war than to become so strong that nobody will dare quarrel with us? We want a stronger navy to settle diplomatic difficulties.

"We are ready to fight, but not as ready as we would like to be; but we don't want to fight, and there is not a man in the navy that is not working to prevent a fight. No set of citizens of this country will say that we will bully a weaker nation, but that we will prevent war if possible.

"The interest of the people in the navy is great, but their knowledge small, and for the good of the navy the more they know the better the navy will be. The navy can stand criticism and should be better for it, for when it can't it will cease to be strong. It is hard to make a navy perfect—perfect practice is hard work, but it is good work.

"There was a time, when we practiced at the targets, that we used a stop watch, and if we could fire a shot every six seconds from the smaller calibre guns we were good; but recently one gun pointer made 12 hits with a 6-inch gun in 12 seconds when the ship was standing at 10 knots and the target a mile away."

Capt. Winslow spoke of the deeds of the New Hampshire men in the navy, and said that he had a great interest in the state, his ancestor being Gen. Stark.

In conclusion he thanked the Governor and through him the people of the state for their handsome gift, which he said would always be treasured.

Presents Stand of Colors

Mrs. E. J. Shepard of Derry, Regent of the New Hampshire Daughters of the American Revolution, presented in behalf of the Daughters the handsome stand of colors. Mrs. Shepard prefaced her remarks with the statement that as Captain Winslow was a descendant of General Stark, they would make him a member of their society. Mrs. Shepard's speech was remarkably well delivered. She said in part:

Mrs. Shepard's Speech

"Captain Winslow, officers and men of the United States Ship New Hampshire; I represent today the Daughters of the American Revolution, a society of sixty thousand loyal American women. These women are direct descendants of the soldiers and sailors who fought in the Revolutionary war.

"It is my pleasant duty today to bring you greetings from the thousands of members of this society in the state of New Hampshire. A few of them only, are permitted to be here today, but all of them are deeply interested in this occasion and all of them united in furnishing the gift which I have been entrusted to bring to you. When the high officials of our nation saw fit to bestow the name of the State we have upon a splendid battleship, we deemed it a privilege to be allowed to show our appreciation of the honor in some way. To our former State Regent, Mrs. John McLean, belongs the credit of suggesting the gift of a stand of colors.

"History repeats itself. In bringing this gift of colors we are repeating a bit of history that transpired in this same harbor many years ago. She then told the story of Helen Seavy and the flag that was made from her wedding garments for the Ranger. She told of the wonderful history of the famous flag how it was the first to receive the salute from a foreign nation and the first to which a British ship hauled down her flag.

These flags we bring to you represent no sacrifice of wedding gowns, no stitches cut by our own fair hands but I assure you the gowns and the stitches would have been freely given had they been needed. We have put into the preparation of this gift much of time and thought and interest and it is my earnest prayer that these flags may witness no such bloody scenes nor meet with a terrible end as did their prototype, the first stars and stripes ever flown to the breeze in Portsmouth harbor.

"And now I have the honor, Captain Winslow to present to the United States battleship New Hampshire, these colors from the Daughters of the American Revolution of the State of New Hampshire.

But it was should come, we feel that these flags are safe in your hands, that you would fight for them if need be for them and for the country they represent.

"Two summers ago the stars and stripes fluted here on benediction over the peace conference of two of the East's great powers.

As the New Hampshire bears these flags over the waters of the world may they feel no breath of battle, hear no sound of foreign guns except in friendly salute, to every foreigner may they speak of the land of liberty, fraternity, equality, to every American of home and country and to all of peace.

Captain Winslow accepted the colors in a very apt speech, in which he said that they would always be treasured and when on parade on shore they would be carried by the men.

Governor Floyd Receives a Salute

Following the color presentation, Mr. W. T. Entwistle of this city presented Governor Floyd with a cane made from the same wood as the furniture on the battleship.

At the conclusion the band played the Star Spangled Banner. The ship's band which was stationed on the quarter deck gave a most pleasing concert during the afternoon.

Following the presentation a dainty lunch of sandwiches and ices and cake was served in the officers ward room.

Governor Saluted

It was 4:30 when Governor Floyd with his party left the ship receiving a salute of thirteen guns. A few minutes after Captain E. K. Mearns, commandant of the navy yard left and he received his salute. The general guests were taken in the barges for this city, and as they left the ship three cheers were given for the ship and for the officers and men, and this was returned by the crew who were lined up on the upper deck, for the "New Hampshire Girls." The return to this city was a successful arrival at five o'clock.

Distinguished People Present

Notable in the gathering on the ship were, Senators Gallinger and Burdham of New Hampshire, Judges of Michigan, Scott of West Virginia, Thomas Nelson Page, William Dean Howells, all of the officers of the yard, and ships at the yard, officers of the fort, retired naval and army men, here for the summer and prominent state and city officials from all parts of the state.

Reception And Ball

Saturday evening there was a grand reception and ball at the hotel Wentworth, and it was without doubt the most brilliant affair that has been held at that famous hotel for a great many years.

There were about five hundred people present including Governor Floyd and his official family, the officers from the New Hampshire, from the navy yard and forts, all appearing in full dress uniform making with the handsome evening gowns of the ladies a very dressy affair. Society was represented from all of the surrounding summer resorts, and from this city.

The big hotel never looked better or more interesting than on Saturday evening. Manager William K. Hill had not omitted anything that would add to the attractiveness of the affair. The big ballroom was handsomely decorated for the affair, lighting, cut flowers and palms being used in profusion.

The hotel's famous orchestra under the leadership of Carl Behr furnished the music for the dancing and it was merriment and inspiring. Dancing was enjoyed until 11:30 and it was with regret that the last waltz was finished.

Buffet Lunch Served

From eleven until twelve o'clock a very dainty buffet lunch was served in the large dining room by Manager Hill's efficient array of waitresses. It included sandwiches, ices, fancy cakes, and fruit lunch.

It was a perfect night for the ball, bright moonlight and the magnificent view from the hotel veranda was never more beautiful or more thoroughly enjoyed.

The crew of the battleship New Hampshire were given shore liberty on Saturday.

GERMAN SHIP HITS FISHERMAN.

Gloucester Vessel Is Quickly

NINE LIVES SACRIFICED.

Many of the Unfortunates Instantly
Killed in Their Bunks as Sharp
Prow of Big Ship Cut the Smaller
One Almost in Two—Rescue of Four Survivors Attended With the Greatest Difficulty.

Halifax, Aug. 10.—The Gloucester, Mass., fishing schooner Maggie and May, Captain Erick McCallum, was run down and sunk by the German schooner Freya, Captain Hans, sixty miles southeast of Halifax, at 11:30 p. m. on Saturday, and McCallum and eight of his crew were drowned. At the time of the collision a dense fog prevailed and the fishing schooner quickly went to the bottom. The drowned are:

Captain Erick McCallum of Gloucester, Koch Wenzel, Walter Flinder, Patrick English, Remon Porter, Delon Porter, Thomas Musie, Alfred Musie and Augustus Ladeger.

The Maggie and May was under sail, creeping along, when at the last, the lookout on the warship sighted the vessel's lights looming up. The warship was going about eight knots at the time, and the course of the ship was altered as quickly as possible, but a collision could not be averted. With a fearful crash, the big steel prow of the Freya crashed into the side of the fishing vessel, cutting her almost in two.

A wild scene followed as the parts of the schooner opened up, and the rushing waters soon sent her to her doom. Human beings, cut and bleeding, scrambled from their bunks only to drop into the sea and be carried down with their craft. It is believed that many of the fishermen were instantly killed in their bunks, as few were seen struggling in the water after the collision.

As the warship backed off from the sinking craft the ship's hands were huddled and life lines were thrown to those men who were in the water. The Freya's boats picked up three of them, while the fourth man clung to the life line and was hauled aboard. The ship's searchlights were kept in motion all the time, but only four men out of the thirteen that composed the crew of the Maggie and May were saved.

There was quite a heavy sea running at the time, and the work of rescue was attended with the greatest difficulty. The majority of the schooner's crew were in their bunks and they did not have the slightest chance for their lives. Several of them did reach the deck, but before they could make any point of safety the schooner careered over, the most fell and many of them were carried under the big sails and there met their death. These men never afterwards came to the surface.

The Freya remained in the vicinity of the collision until Sunday morning, but no bodies were found. The warship was from Madeira for Halifax and the first known here of the disaster was when she steamed into the harbor last evening. The four survivors, Leo Funn, Shivan White, John Musie and William Musie, were landed this morning.

The Freya was badly scraped, forward, but not damaged. The schooner was struck between fifteen and twenty feet from the bow and the impact was so great that it was felt all over the warship.

The Maggie and May registered 116 tons, was built in 1897 in Essex, Mass., and was owned by George Demais. A marine inquiry will be held as soon as possible.

GATHERING OF TYPERS.

Boston, Aug. 10.—More than 2000 delegates are present at four big conventions in the printing trade, which opened here today. The great convention of all is the fifty-fourth annual session of the International Typographical union, which met with 450 delegates. The others are the Mothers' Trade District union, the Women's Auxiliary to the International Typographical union and the International Stenographers and Electrotypers' union.

ABILITY RECOGNIZED.

Paris, Aug. 10.—The French press unites in spontaneous and enthusiastic praise of Wilbur Wright's performance with his aeroplane Saturday at Le Mans, and enthusiastically expresses the opinion that even in this short flight it was undoubtedly proven that the Wright brothers are the leaders in aerial navigation. The average opinion is summed up by The Figaro, which declares that it was not a success, but a triumph.

HUNGRY CREW RELIEVED.

London, Aug. 10.—A wireless dispatch received from the Cunard line steamship Caronia, by way of Crookhaven, reports that the liner, which left Queenstown Aug. 6 for New York, sighted the British bark Lillithorn, which was in mid-Atlantic and her crew without food. Two days' stores were sent by the Caronia to the starving men. The Lillithorn left Lillithorn March 23 for Rotterdam.

NO JEWELRY OFFERINGS.

Dr. Simpson Takes Collection of Over $55,000 in Pledges at Old Orchard, Old Orchard, Me., Aug. 10.—The annual missionary collection was taken at the Old Orchard camp ground yesterday, following a service which continued for over three hours, and when the pledges were counted up it was found that $55,226.92 had been pledged to the work of foreign and domestic missions. In addition, 100 persons pledged themselves to go abroad as missionaries and 100 more pledged $15 each for the support of 100 orphans in India.

The offerings of jewelry, which has characterized many former missionary collections, were not in evidence, and neither was such pledged or received. The largest single contribution was a check for $6000, while there were several for $2000 and $1000, the smallest contribution being 25 cents. The offerings came from some 5000 people, which composed the audience at the long service.

ROOSEVELT TO REFORM FARM LIFE.

Better Social, Sanitary and Economic Conditions.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 10.—With a view to bringing about better social, sanitary and economic conditions on American farms, President Roosevelt has requested four experts on country life to make an investigation into the whole matter and to report to him with recommendations for improvement. The report and recommendations, with any additional recommendations which the president himself may desire to make, will be incorporated in a message which the president will send to congress probably early next year.

In a letter to Professor R. H. Bailey, asking him to accept the chairmanship of the commission, the president says: "The farmer is as a rule better off than his forebears, but his increase in well-being has not kept pace with that of the country as a whole."

The effort for better farming should cease to stand alone and should be accompanied by the effort for better business and better living on the farm. Agriculture is not the whole country life. The great rural interests are human interests, and good crops are of little value to the farmer unless they open the door to a good kind of life on the farm.

We hope ultimately to double the average yield of wheat and corn per acre. It will be a great achievement, but it is even more important to double the desirability, comfort and standing of the farmer's life.

There is no more important person, measured in influence upon the life of the nation, than the farmer's wife; no more important home than the country home, and it is of national importance that we do the best we can for both.

I am anxious to bring before the people of the United States the question of securing better business, and better living on the farm, whether by co-operation between farmers for buying, selling and borrowing; by promoting road advantages and opportunities in the country; by any other legitimate means that will help to make country life more gainful, more attractive and fuller of opportunities, pleasures and rewards for the men, women and children of the farm.

PIED PIPER SERVICES IN A DAY.

Northfield, Mass., Aug. 10.—Yesterday was an eventful one at the Northfield conference of Christian Workers. There were fifteen different services, continuing from 7 o'clock in the morning until late last night, and they were attended by nearly 4000 people. Rev. W. L. Watkinson of London, the leader of the Methodist church in England, although past four score in years, proved to be both humorous and eloquent.

NEWSPAPERS STOP WORK.

Copenhagen, Aug. 10.—Owing to the employees in the various printing offices here, except a few men engaged on scientific papers, having started a strike, the employers declared a general lockout in all departments of labor today. If a reconciliation is not speedily reached it is expected that the newspapers here will suspend publication for at least a fortnight.

BOOTH LOSING HIS SIGHT.

London, Aug. 10.—An officer of the Salvation Army confirms the report that General Booth is suffering from cataracts on both eyes. Booth has yet not taken to wearing glasses, says the officer, but he cannot read anything but large type, and he has to hold that close to his eyes.

MONARCHS TO MEET.

London, Aug. 10.—King Edward left today on his annual visit to Marlborough. Exceptional interest is taken in the trip, as King Edward will meet Emperor William at Cronberg, Prussia, Tuesday, and Emperor Francis Joseph at Ischl, Austria, Wednesday.

BODIES FOUND IN MEADOW.

Had Been Detailed to Apprehend Hen and Vegetable Thieves and Were

Lives Yielded Up Only After a Long and Desperate Struggle With Their Unknown Assailants.

Methuen, Mass., Aug. 10.—Brutally beaten to death in the performance of their duty, the bodies of Charles H. Emerson and Frank McDermott, members of the Methuen police department, were found in a peat meadow on the outskirts of the town after a search of several hours yesterday.

The two officers were sent out Saturday night in an effort to catch petty marauders who for some time past had been causing great annoyance and loss to the farmers of the vicinity by numerous robberies of henyards and vegetable gardens.

The officers failed to report for duty Sunday morning and, fearing some mishap, Chief of Police Jones at once organized searching parties. The countryside was thoroughly gone over, but it was not until late in the afternoon that one of the parties stumbled across the bodies of the two officers half concealed in the bushes of a desolate peat meadow.

Near the corpses were two large blood-stained stones, McDermott's head was crushed in and there were other ugly bruises about his body, as if he had been beaten to death by some blunt implement, presumably the blood-stained rocks. Close beside him was Emerson's body. This, too, was covered with bruises, and on a superficial examination it looked as if his body also had some cuts.

The bushes about the spot were spattered with blood and trampled, evidently by a struggle, but from the nature of the spot and the position in which the bodies were lying it is thought that while the two officers were following the man or men they suspected of thieving, they were attacked viciously from the bushes.

Two large rocks, well aimed and thrown from behind at a short distance, it is believed, knocked down the surprised officers. As they tried to rise to their feet they were set upon with clubs and, in the case of Emerson, it is believed, with a knife, and half beaten and fighting blindly, they were beaten into insensibility before they could draw their pistols and cry for help, and then left to die.

As soon as the discovery of the crime was made known to Chief Jones, he communicated with the state police, who sent Officer Flynn upon the case. There were few clues to work upon. Tracks were seen leading from the place, but the immediate vicinity was so thoroughly trampled over by the searching parties before the bodies were discovered that it was impossible to trace the steps.

The most intense excitement has been caused in the neighboring country, for, instead of having to deal with petty thieves as they at first supposed, the citizens and officers now find themselves confronted with the task of capturing desperate criminals, and with the memory of the pistol light between Boston officers and yegmen in Jamaica Plain a few weeks before there is great anxiety on all sides.

The only clue is a leaf of Syrian bread which was placed upon a short distance from where the bodies were found. This bread is a round rye loaf used generally among the Syrian people.

Numbers of Syrians and other foreigners from the hills of the nearby city of Lawrence within the past few years have been taking up wild land in the vicinity of Methuen, where they have tried farming on a small scale. Since these farms have been established there have been numerous cases of petty thieving reported, hens, eggs and vegetables from the more prosperous farms nearby being taken from time to time, and the blame for the depredations has been attributed by some to the foreign farmers, whose hands as a rule are not of the best and where it is hard to get a living from the barren soil.

That the assault upon the officers was not for robbery was apparent, for a considerable sum of money on their persons and their watches were not disturbed. Their revolvers, however, were missing. One was picked up several yards from the scene and the other has not been located.

A medical examiner, after viewing the bodies, ordered their removal to a local undertaker's. A brief examination disclosed that the skulls of both the men had been crushed in by something heavy and blunt. The autopsy will be performed today.

The scene of the crime is about a mile and a half from the center of the town, not very far from the farm of Nathaniel Perry, where the two officers had been sent to break up the thieving that had been occurring there recently. Emerson was 55 years old. He is survived by a widow and two sons. McDermott was 50 years old and leaves one daughter.

VOLLEY OF BULLETS FIRED INTO A TRAIN.

Conductor, Deputy Sheriff and a Non-Union Miner Killed.

Brindigham, Ala., Aug. 10.—Three men were instantly killed and eleven injured, two of whom will probably die, when striking miners fired into a passenger train on the Birmingham railroad at Brindigham. The dead are conductor Collins, Deputy Sheriff Dent and William Howell, a non-union miner.

The train was a special, being non-union men to the Brindigham mines under guard of soldiers and deputies. Running through the outskirts of the town at 2 a. m., the engineer saw a fire across the track and at once a fire alarm was fired into the train. The engineer did not stop, but let the cowcatcher throw the log from the track and put on full speed.

The place where the attack was made was in a cut, the ground being on a level with the lower part of the windows. The assailants behind the rocks discharged down a number of firebrands, ready into the windows and at the engine. Practically every window in the train was broken and shrapnel struck all parts of the engine and cars.

The train proceeded to Brindigham and the dead and injured were returned to Brindigham. Dogs were hurled to the scene and took trails through the woods directly to the union quarters. Eight negroes were arrested and other arrests are expected.

CLAYTON'S CONFIDENCE.

Marion, Neb., Aug. 10.—Chairman Clayton of the committee on nomination of William A. Bryan of his nomination for the presidency has arrived here. "I have every confidence in the election of Bryan and Kern," said Clayton. "The whole sentiment of the country is in that direction. The 'reform' Democrats are not much interested in the election, because they intend to vote the Democratic ticket anyway, but the men who have not hitherto voted for Bryan and who purpose to do so this year are the ones who are enthusiastic."

CARS MET ON SINGLE TRACK.

Unionville, Conn., Aug. 10.—John Walsh was instantly killed, and Mrs. John Conlin received serious injuries in a head-on trolley collision here. The two cars, a passenger and a work car, going in opposite directions on the same track, met at a sharp curve. The work car was smashed, Walsh, a fireman, having his head crushed. Those on the passenger car, other than Mrs. Conlin, escaped with slight bruises.

OLD ENGINEER DEAD.

Lyndonville, Vt., Aug. 10.—Squire J. Wilson, whose record of drawing the same passenger train for forty-two years is believed to be unequalled, died here, aged 87. He went to work on the Central Vermont in 1819 and became an engineer in 1852, retiring in 1898. Since which time he had been employed in the Lyndonville shops of the company. He was formerly a member of the state legislature.

ARMY OFFICERS' MARCH.

Burlington, Vt., Aug. 10.—Seventeen army officers from the department of the east, from the grades of major colonels and lieutenant colonels, started this morning on a thirty-mile practice march, lasting for three days. Each day for three days the officers will march thirty miles, making the journey in seven hours, with half an hour's rest, and returning to the fort each night.

SPERRY LANDS AT AUCKLAND.

Admiral and His Officers
Are Officially Welcomed.

EXCHANGE OF GREETINGS.

Premier and Governor Sound Praises
of President Roosevelt For His Work in Behalf of Humanity, to Which American Commander Fittingly Responds—Cruise From San Francisco Has Been Profitable.

Auckland, N. Z., Aug. 10.—Cloudy weather greeted the landing today of Commander-in-Chief Sperry of the United States Atlantic fleet and his officers to receive official welcome to Australian waters at the hands of Prime Minister Ward on behalf of the government.

The landing was made at the foot of Queen street, the city's principal thoroughfare, at the shore end of which an elaborately decorated stand had been erected for the reception. Grouped about the prime minister were the members of the cabinet and representatives of the various towns, borough and country districts of the dominion. It was a great reception and undoubted enthusiasm prevailed.

In his address the premier eulogized President Roosevelt as representing the best traditions of the common bond of civilization. He then presented to Admiral Sperry for President Roosevelt a decorated gold and silver album, suitably inscribed, as a souvenir of the visit of the American fleet to New Zealand. To Sperry was given a beautifully illuminated address of welcome, enclosed in a handsome basket of wood with an initial cover having a design emblematic of New Zealand.

Admiral Sperry, in replying to the prime minister, said that no greeting would appeal more strongly to President Roosevelt than that coming from a people small in number, but great in achievements. The reception of the American fleet, the admiral continued, showed that the ties of blood and friendship meant more than people understood.

In his address of welcome on behalf of the citizens of New Zealand, Governor Plunket said that King Edward and President Roosevelt were honored not because of their positions, but for the noble work they had done and were doing for their countries and for humanity.

Admiral Sperry, in reply, dwelt on the great work in the furtherance of the peace of the world that is being done by Great Britain and America and on the common interests of the two countries in the Pacific, which he declared were growing in importance daily. He said the meeting of the British and Atlantic fleets at Auckland made for the maintenance of the principle of The Hague peace conference and Anglo-Saxon interests.

After the ceremonies of welcome by the government a procession was formed, the route being through Queen street to Drill hall, where Mayor Myers recorded Sperry a civic welcome. An artistic souvenir portfolio was presented to the admiral. Queen street was lined by thousands of spectators, who enthusiastically cheered the American officers and men as the procession passed.

In an interview Sperry said the cruise of the fleet from San Francisco had effected a great improvement in the active work of the men. The economy in coal had made possible trips hitherto not possible, and he could now steam from Honolulu to Sydney without coaling. The admiral added that splendid results had been attained in tactical work and gunnery during the cruise.

The United States battleship Panther and the tender Yankton arrived here today.

Rear Admiral Sperry's message to the people of Australia says: "Forty years ago I visited Australia and carried away the most pleasant memories. The officers and men of the Atlantic fleet keenly appreciate this exceptional opportunity for a better acquaintance with the people of New Zealand and Australia, to whom we feel we are closely related, and with whom we have many interests in common."

KILLED BY FITTED BALL.

Pawtucket, R. I., Aug. 10.—William Anfin, aged 15, was playing ball in Lonsdale Saturday, and while at the bat was knocked unconscious by a pitched ball hitting him on the temple. Coming to his senses he took his base and continued the game. At night he became sick and died Sunday. The cause of death was cerebral hemorrhage.

SPITE STRIKE AT MADRID.

Madrid, Aug. 10.—The auto-workers, grocers and other shopkeepers have decided to close their establishments Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, as a protest against the recent decrees ordering the shutting up of shops on Sunday.

LONG FIGHT PROBABLE.

Montreal, Aug. 10.—There are no developments in the strike of the Canadian Pacific railway mechanics. Both sides seem to have settled down to a long fight.

SENATE CHAIRMANSHIP.

Important Changes Made Necessary Through the Death of Allison. Washington, Aug. 10.—With Senator Perkins as chairman of the senate committee on naval affairs, as all concede will become through the committee changes which will result from the death of Senator Allison, the Pacific coast will be given a position of advantage and his probable advancement is favorably accepted by those who regard recent developments in the Pacific as of a nature to render necessary the greatest watchfulness in that quarter. While the western coast has generally been given representation on this important senate committee, it has never been awarded the place at the head of it.

That Senator Hale will leave the committee with reluctance is understood on all sides, but it is quite certain that he will yield to what is believed will be the almost general demand that he transfer the centre of his committee operations to the committee on appropriations, where he has so long been Allison's first lieutenant. He will then be permitted, if he so desires, to retain his membership in the naval committee, and will probably resume second place on that committee, which he occupied previous to his promotion to the chairmanship in 1897. The Maine senator will thus maintain an important relationship to naval affairs.

"PROTECTORS" HOLD SHAH A PRISONER.

Clamor For Money Which the Monarch Cannot Produce.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 10.—Special dispatches from Teheran give a graphic account of the position of the Shah of Persia, who is virtually a prisoner in the hands of wild tribesmen summoned to Teheran to protect the throne against the revolutionaries, but who have become a greater menace to the monarch than his old foes.

The tribesmen are extravagant in their demands for money, which the Shah is unable to grant, and they threaten to destroy the palace and pillage Teheran. The $250,000 loan from the Russian bank recently as a loan on the crown jewels of Persia already is exhausted.

General Likhoff's Cossacks are unable to make any headway against the tribesmen, who have refused to permit the Shah to leave the camp at Rade-shukh for Saltebad, where the harem is staying.

Famine is reported to be imminent in southern Persia and this promises to bring about a crisis in political affairs in the autumn.

CONVENTION OF CATHOLICS.

Boston, Aug. 10.—In the Cathedral of the Holy Cross the seventh national convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies opened in this city early yesterday. There were fully 3000 people in attendance at the religious services. The delegates gathered again last night at Symphony hall to receive the official welcome to the state and city. The addresses of welcome were delivered by Lieutenant Governor Deane for the state and by Mayor Hibbard for the city, while Archbishop O'Connell spoke for the church. The response was made by Edward Treney of Brooklyn, national president of the Federation society.

"TEMPORARY EXPEDIENT."

Christ Church, N. Z., Aug. 10.—The newspapers here cordially welcome the arrival in New Zealand waters of the American Atlantic fleet. The Christ Church Press, in an article on the subject of the visit of the fleet, declares that the conclusion of the Anglo-Japanese alliance was only "a temporary expedient" to secure peace, and professes to see in the future a struggle for mastery in the Pacific, in which the United States and Great Britain will be natural allies against the Far Eastern forces.

FOUR CHILDREN PERISHED.

New York, Aug. 10.—Four children lost their lives and five persons were seriously injured in a fire which early today practically destroyed a five-story tenement building on East 112th street. The flames started on the second floor of the building, and finding escape by the stairs impossible the family of James Sousto fled to the top floor of the building structure, where firemen found the burned bodies of two girls and two boys, their ages ranging from 16 months to 10 years.

AUTO CRASH KILLS TWO.

Toluca, Aug. 10.—When an automobile plumed over a steep embankment on the Michoacan road, Charles W. Pohlmann, a Cleveland importer and merchant tailor, and Rev. George Vakey, pastor of Columbus's Roman Catholic parish, Cleveland, were killed. Mrs. Charles W. Pohlmann, her daughter, Florence, and P. C. Diefzel, a Cleveland dentist, were in the touring car, but were saved from injury by the high back of the limousine.

MARKETS OF MEXICO

OPEN AIR INSTITUTIONS FORM A PICTURESQUE FEATURE.

Lower Class of Mexicans Said to Be Born Traders—Market Place
in Small Town a Veritable Beehive of Industry.

City of Mexico. One might travel
the world around and find few more picturesque institutions than the markets of Mexico in the warm towns of a spring day. This does not refer to these big market places of the capital, and to those partially new buildings to which the residents of various cities throughout the republic point with pride, but to those open-air, sun-baked places of bartering which one frequently encounters in the suburbs of Mexico City and the smaller towns and villages of the interior.

It is in these outdoor places of discretion that one may catch the true spirit of the lower classes in their most typical dress. It has been said that the lower class of Mexican is a tradesman, born to buy and sell, and that he would much prefer to handle all day over a profit of ten cents than to earn a wage of 30 cents. But to this it may be said, the market place is the great gathering place of small traders from far and near, who come to keep over the latest news and trade small talk, as well as to dispose of their more marketable wares.

The market place of a small town is a veritable beehive of industry, or the semblance of industry, and it is

A Typical Market Woman.

only necessary for the sightseer to visit such suburbs as Coyocim to be convinced of this beyond peradventure.

The little market of a town is the goal of all ambitious tradesmen in its territory. It is at this point that traveling peddlers, street vendors and mountain Indians begin their day's labor, and they have usually spread out their wares before daylight.

Here may be seen the wandering Spaniard or Syrian, with his peddler's pick spread out, with all its gaudy attractions—highly colored handkerchiefs, combs, strings of glass beads, bracelets, necklaces and cheap jewelry
of every description. This is the na-gion's bug to the poor Indian child with only a few centavos to beguile her natural curiosity, and his is one of the most attractive booths of the plaza.

But itinerant peddlers are common to all countries, and one must turn elsewhere to catch those typical wares of the people. There, spread out on the ground, one may see the cheap native pottery, in various and sundry shapes, serviceable and otherwise, which the Indians themselves have made in their crude fashion. There are the native fruits, luscious and tempting, but fast spoiling in the glare of the sun. There are native manillas, shawls, robes and perhaps a booth with other wearing apparel for women. There are sombreros, and frequently one may run across charcoal suits of leather with spangles of silver pieces to catch the eye of the visiting ranchero. And there are rough native shoes, with long pointed toes, that were the style in the United States several years ago.

In fact, there is no limit to the variety of the wares which may be seen for sale within the limits of a very small market, though no grand phonos have been noticed in the display.
There is everything, from a penny's worth of peanuts to a person's worth of more substantial merchandise. And on a booth, it is indeed a scene of bright colors to catch the eye of an artist.

It is to the little market place that the Indian, Tarascan, Tlaximtec, or whichever his tribe is, trots down from the hills to dispose of his handicraft, his baskets, his blankets or even his crude villas.

But the Mexican market place is not only a place for buying and selling. It seems to be the meeting place for everything, for dogs, cats and Indian babies. The dogs and cats are allowed to saunter around in every direction, with but little chance for apprehension on the part of buyers and sellers, and as for the babies—they are spread out in every direction in the sun, dirty little contented specimens of humanity that are the only things in the market place not for sale.

HADLEY TO BE A FARMER.
Missouri Attorney General Seeks Health Telling Soil.

Kansas City. Herbert S. Hadley, attorney general and a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, is to become a farmer.

A short time ago when the doctors thought Mr. Hadley's health was breaking he went to Texas and from there to New Mexico. While staying at Roswell he found a little farm two miles out of that place, that he factured as an ideal place for a country home while the chance that it would

Herbert S. Hadley.

know in value offered an opportunity for an investment.

He made an offer on the place,
which has since been accepted, and now he is going west to take title to the property and plant 20 acres of corn, at the same time getting the benefit of the high altitude and outdoor life. Mrs. Hadley will go to New Mexico later in the summer.

In appearance Mr. Hadley shows no signs of poor health. Most of his friends have come to the conclusion that indigestion is his most serious trouble.

When he works under high pressure 16 hours a day he occasionally runs down because his nervous system affects digestion. He is the reverse of Gov. Folk, who eats four big meals a day when he is working hard and prows fat on a hard campaign.

CHIEF OF MODERN WOODMEN.
Head Consul A. R. Talbot Unanimously
Re-Elected.

Lincoln, Neb.—Head Consul A. R.
Talbot of the Modern Woodmen of America, who was unanimously re-elected at the triennial convention held in Peoria, Ill., is a lawyer of this city, and was formerly the partner of William Jennings Bryan. He has been at the head of the Woodmen since 1903, when he succeeded Lieut. Gov.
Northeast of Illinois. Previously he had been a director of the order for 12 years. Mr. Talbot has served in the Nebraska senate. Under his administration the Woodmen have flourished, now having 950,000 members, of whom 150,000 are in Illinois. The salary of the office was increased from $5,000 to $10,000. The election is for a term of three years.

Human Hair in Wedding Gowns.
Madge O'Rourke, the famous Irish-American dressmaker, was showing a customer an assortment of wedding gowns, relates the New Orleans Times-Democrat.

"In every one of these gowns," was you to clip them apart," she said, "you would find a lock of hair hidden—red hair, brown hair, golden hair, even gray hair."

"Sewing girls believe that she who works on a wedding gown, if she sews
a lock of her own hair into it, will be married herself within the year."

"Oh, yes, the belief is universal.
Every wedding gown in the world is laid to reveal, when cut up, a lock of hair—some red, some gold, some black, and some, alas, gray."

Density of City Population.
The Federation Review, a paper devoted to the cause of liberal immigration laws, in an article on the density of city population says: "Although there is a certain area of about three and a half acres on Manhattan island, where the density of population is at the rate of 630,000 to the square mile,
yet the city of Paris shows a far greater average density of population,
than New York, the figures for Paris being 79,000 a square mile and for New York city proper, 60,000 a square mile. The average density of London's population is 27,000 a square mile, and that of Berlin is 67,000."

NEW HAMPSHIRE
PRESS ASSOCIATION

On Annual Outing At the Isles of Shoals and Portsmouth

The members of the New Hampshire Press Association and 1,000 ladies to the number of more than a hundred came to Portsmouth on Saturday for the annual outing. After spending a few hours in calling on acquaintances and enjoying the attractions of the city, including visits to historic spots, the greater number of the party went on to Rockport,
New Hampshire as guests at the presentation of the silver service from the State to the ship named for the State.

At 5.30 the Forest City was taken for Appledore Island, where a good social time was had, and it is alleged that some of the party actually talked shop and discussed methods of handling the work and making business pay. Everybody took a sip of the moon after "Uncle"
Oscar Laughton brought out the telescope.

Sunday forenoon was spent in conversation, while one or two tried salt water bathing, several parties explored the island thoroughly and picked up seashells and other trophies,
and a large number visited Star
and Wave Islands, the old church and other sights of a spot which occupied a huge place in the early annals of this part of the earth.

Th Sunday afternoon boat brought them back to Portsmouth, after they had had a group picture taken in front of the Thaxter Cottages. A few left the party at the wharf but the most of them paid a visit to the navy yard in the late afternoon.

The evening trains started many of them homeward and the rest will go today.

They are a lot of good people and their visit has been a pleasant one and it would be pleasant to have some again.

The harbor presented a very lively appearance on Sunday.

"It is astonishing," remarked a well known authority on Diseases of the skin, "how such a large number of people, especially ladies, are by attractively written advertisements, induced to purchase some one of the many so called Beauty Creams now on the market, not knowing, of course, that they mostly contain oily or greasy substances that clog the pores of the skin and are, for that reason, the very worst thing that they could possibly use.
My treatment of Pimples, Blackheads, Blisters and all eruptions of the skin, are as follows and has invariably proved very successful.
Wash the face carefully every night
before retiring with warm water and a little oat meal tied up in a small cloth bag, then, after drying
well, use the following inexpensive
and perfectly harmless prescription, which can be filled at any Drug Store. Clearola 1-2 oz. Ether 1 oz.
Alcohol 7 oz. Use this mixture on the face as often as possible during the day, but use night and morning any way, allowing it to remain on the face at least ten minutes, then the powdery film may be wiped off. Do not wash the face for some time after using. By following this simple treatment, you will soon have a clear and brilliant complexion."

JAMES S. SHERMAN

SIDELIGHTS ON NOMINEE FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

Is Very Popular in His Home City of Utica, N. Y.—Fond of National Game and an Inveterate Reader of Fiction.

Utica, N. Y.—"Jim" Sherman, the Republican candidate for vice-president, is very popular here. So is his family. He has several brothers and one of them, Richard W., finished a second term as mayor of Utica last January. The mayor is a Democrat.
So is the whole Sherman family excepting Jim. He, too, used to be a Democrat, but in 1876, shortly after serving as a Democratic delegate to the state convention, he became a Republican. Ten years later his new party sent him to congress and he has been there ever since, except for the two years 1891-93, having been one of the many who were swamped in the Democratic tidal wave of 1890.

"Jim" is chairman of the local fee
trust, and his brother, while mayor, put after him in warm style, making sensational charges against the trust.
However, all the Sherman brothers
are the best of friends.

Mr. Sherman came most widely in national repute when in 1906 he was chairman of the Republican congressional committee in charge of the campaign. It was in that campaign that he earned the sobriquet "Send Your Dollar Jim," or "Dollar Jim," as the solicitor and recipient of dollar contributions, suggested by President Roosevelt when so much was being said in criticism of great campaign contributions by corporations.

Sherman had the light of his career in that same campaign to retain his own seat, for there was strong opposition organized in his district. Samuel Gompers personally campaigned against him. Also opposing him were the anti-organizational Republicans, the Democrats, united laborites and independence fighters, besides the candidates of lesser parties, and the campaign was active. Sherman's plurality

RARE LIBRARY OF BURNS.
Government Botanist Has Bulldozed to Glory of Scotch Poet.

Washington.—There is one man in Washington to whom every congressman must apply, and to whom nearly every congressman does apply, for his allotment of pabula, ferns and other potted plants, for it should be known that congressmen in getting what they can, rarely overlook the trifle of these potted greens. Truth is, they do not always seek this botanic requisite for their own or their family's use. It sometimes goes to an insistent, persusive or useful constituent.

This man whom every congressman hunts up, or hunts down, once or oft-

William R. Smith.

ever every session, is a Scotchman
with a fine burr, and the superlativent of the national botanic garden. His name is William R. Smith. Besides knowing much about plant life he is a worshiper of the poet, Robert Burns, and owns what is said to be the best and most extensive collection of the works of the Scotch poet in all the world.

Mr. Smith owns 600 different editions of the poems of Burns. The majority of these are published in English. In addition to the Burns editions the Smith library contains 5,000 books relating to Burns, including 27 biographical works. The walls of the gardener's house are covered with more than 200 pictures of Burns, no
two alike.

Another feature of this man's library is that it contains a copy of every book that was in the library of Robert Burns, and in many instances the very editions which Burns read. He has collected many fragments of Burns manuscripts, also.

COLONIAL MANSION A MUSEUM.
House Built by Friend of William Penn Now Belongs to Philadelphia.

Philadelphia.—Stenton, the famous old mansion of the Logan family at Wayne Junction, was the scene of a brilliant assemblage recently. The occasion was the giving of a tea by the president and board of managers of the City Parks association.

Stenton is one of the most interesting and noted of the many colonial mansions in Philadelphia and its environment.

Logan Home Now a Public Museum.

Stenton. It is the old country seat of the Logan family at Wayne Junction.
Stenton was built by James Logan, one of the most distinguished men of his time. In 1727, and to-day is in an excellent state of preservation. The old mansion some years ago passed into the hands of the Colonial Dames,
and was presented by them to the city
for a public museum.

Stenton is two stories high and built almost entirely of brick. The old-fashioned windows and gabled roof still suggest reminiscences of colonial times. Half of the front of the house on the second floor is occupied by one large room. James Logan came to America in the time of William Penn and held numerous important positions, such as secretary of the province, commissioner of property, member of the provincial council and chief justice of Pennsylvania. After the battle of Germantown the British forces camped near Stenton and Gen.
Howe made his headquarters there.

Her Foolish Question.
"Tommy," his mother cried, "how many times have I told you not to do that?"
"Gee," he replied, "I don't know.
I ain't no adding machine."—Chicago
